MOSER architecture studio, under the guidance and leadership of Troy Moser since its inception in 2005, has grown into a full service architecture firm with numerous projects completed and on-going throughout Las Vegas. The firm's strong representation of commercial hospitality projects within the various casinos, are indicative of Troy's wealth of experience and knowledge, along with an extensive network of collaborative relationships, amassed over 16 years of working on the Las Vegas Strip as a licensed architect.

Troy's leadership, creativity and unwavering dedication to the client and project are imbuing traits emulated within MOSER architecture studio, and evidenced in the growing repute of the company's work. Whether tackling a project of a mere 500 square feet or a scope of work encompassing 5,000 hotel rooms, the same consideration to detail and aptitude of skill are enforced. No matter how large or small the project, time is taken to understand and foster each and every project undertaken by MOSER architecture studio.

An active community participant, Troy serves on the board for Discovery Children's Museum and as council chair at Green Valley United Methodist Church. Additional affiliations include American Institute of Architects (AIA) and the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB), as a registered and licensed architect in the state of Nevada. A Nebraska native, Troy holds his Bachelor and Master of Architecture degrees from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
